1. Get started with a supervised account

This is great for parents who want to allow their child to transition from YouTube Kids to supervised access to the main YouTube platform.

To create a supervised account: There are four different ways to access this. The following steps were completed from the YouTube app on a parent's device:

Step 1 – Create and manage a Google Account for your child with Family Link. If you already manage a Google Account for your child with Family Link, skip to the next step.

Step 2 – Sign in to YouTube with the Google Account you use as a parent manager of your child's account.

Step 3 – Go to your profile picture.

Step 4 – Select Settings then select Parent Settings.

Step 5 – Select your child and follow the next steps.

When your child signs in to YouTube with their Google Account, the information that we collect, including your child's search and watch history, may be stored with their Google Account and used to improve your child's Google experience.

Remember that the YouTube settings that you select for your child will not apply when your child is not using the YouTube website or app, for example when your child views embedded YouTube content on a third-party news website.
